Current Events

By Arthur Brisbane

THE AIRSHIP Shenandoah, sailing toward Albany, above the Hudson, on Wednesday, passed the Twentieth Century, the fastest New York Central train coming from Chicago. The airship carried 132 human beings, the express train many more. The passengers on the fast train bent their necks looking upward, and thought how strange it was to be pulled by a machine that boiled water to make itself go.

EARLY IN the last century, when James Brisbane, father of the late Albert Brisbane, ran his primitive railroad trains from Rochester, N. Y., to Buffalo, passengers, drawn by horses, looked in amazement and thought how strange it was to be pulled by a machine that boiled water to make itself go.

IN a few years that well-appointed express train will be out of date as the stage coach is now.

THE YOUNG Vanderbilt boys and George F. Baker, real boss of the New York Central, would do well to begin planning now for transportation through the air. They have the terminals, can raise money, and should see the warning written in the sky by smoke from exhaust pipes of the big flying snips.

"WHAT WILL the big parties do about prohibition? That's the question, the surest answer is that they will imitate skaters that skate around a hole in the ice.

With "Al" Smith of New York, of course, his mere nomination would be an outstanding declaration against prohibition. In doing away with the Mullin-Gase act Mr. Smith declared that the Volstead act was "the work of fanatical dogs." When he carried New York by an overwhelming majority he ran on a platform with a plank looking well.

Both parties say away from the drink question now, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, "Al" Smith's manager, says "certainly not" when asked if the Democratic platform will carry a plank for modification of the Volstead act.

RODMAN WANAMAKER has presented to New York "an eternal light" to burn "forever" in memory of soldiers killed in the World War. The light will be an electric star at the top of a tall mast in Madison square, and Mr. Wanamaker will endow it with a patriotic thought, but what long words those are—"eternal" and "forever." The light that rises and sets every day as the earth turns around will go out eventually. It will not be eternal.

And how long will it be before another inscription will look up at the eternal light and ask: "I wonder what that's for?"

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE shed a tear because Chicagoans had to travel many miles to see Carpenter fight Gibbons. Chicagoans, having supplied 50 per cent of the cash for that fight, the Tribune thinks it should have been brought to their door.

That's a mistake. The best thing for high intellect that demands the pleasure of prize fighting, seeing somebody else's nose bleed, is to travel as much as possible. Travel opens the mind.

THE NEANDERTHAL outcrop of Chicago, on their way to that fight in a private car, doubtless looked out of the window between "meads," saw the little birds, and perhaps a darting field mouse, living proof of Providence's watchful care. If so, they came home better men—perhaps somewhere in the Cro-Magnon division.

LAST NIGHT for the first time in history one million guests were present at a wedding—on the radio. A million, or ten million might, "tune in" WEAF, hear the marriage ceremony, the faint "I do" of the bride and all the rest, including the music.

THERE HAVE BEEN many famous weddings since that of Alexander the Great, who Continued on Page 16, Column 1.

$100,000 TO DEFEND SLAYERS

Shrewd Lawyers of Nation to Aid Youths Accused in Franks Case

(Copyright, 1924, by Universal Service).
Chicago, June 5.—Creation of an initial defense fund of $100,000 with which to buy a whole courtroom full of experts who will strive to intercept every known technical and legal barrier between Nathan E. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb and the gallows, was revealed today coincidentally with the fact that three indictments may be returned against the youths today.

Two indictments against each charging kidnapping for ransom and murder, both capital offenses, are ready. They have been drawn by the State's attorneys indignant experts and merely await the voting of the true bill by the Grand Jury, which continued today to hear the story of the atrocious slaying.

FAMILIES LOTAL

The third indictment sought charges conspiracy to murder. The first two indictments will be brought in before Chief Justice John R. Caverly of the Criminal Court today. If there is delay, the others will be returned later.

The defense became more active today in its preparation when Benjamin Macbrack, member of counsel for the boys, visited the jail accompanied by a younger brother, Walter Macbrack.

The elder Macbrack told jail officials that the visit would be daily until the young men had told their story in detail.

The younger Macbracks then assisted himself at the door of Leopold's cell and began to make voluminous notes of a conversation between Benjamin Macbrack and the prisoner.

FIGHT BEGINS

Leopold occasionally interrupted the flow of questions to talk earnestly to his adviser in a low tone. The attorney several times slowly shook his head.

SLAYERS 'CHECK IN' AT COUNTY JAIL

Dear Sir:
Proceed immediately to the back platform of the train. Watch the east side of the track. Have your package ready. Look for the first LARGE RED BRICK factory situated immediately adjacent to the tracks on the east. On top of this factory is a large, black water tower with the word CRANFORD written on it. Wait until you have COMPLETELY passed the south end of the factory—count five very rapidly and then IMMEDIATELY throw the package as far east as you can.

Remember that this is your only chance to recover your son.

Yours truly,
GEORGE JOHNSON

Should anyone else find this note, please leave it alone. The letter is very important.

RANSOM LETTER TO VICTIM'S FATHER
One of the most damaging bits of evidence against Nathan E. Leopold, Jr. and Richard A. Loeb, self-confessed slayers of fourteen-year-old Robert Franks. The letter of instruction was placed on a train Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, was to have taken in delivering $100,000 ransom money. He missed connections and the letter was recovered after going to Canada and back on the car where the boys placed they were being assigned to the quarters they will occupy in the county jail at Chicago, probably from now on until the day of their trial.

HARDY HOLDS FORT WITH GUN AND AXE

Wash Committee Declares the Leases Illegal; Fall, Doherty and Sinclair Denounced

Washington, June 5.—Flagrant disregard of the law in negotiation of the Sinclair and Doherty oil leases was charged in a report to the Senate today, prepared for the Oil Committee by its prosecutor, Senator Walsh, of Montana.

The executive order by which President Harding transferred the oil reserves from the Navy to the Interior Department was held in the report to have been illegal. President Harding was criticized for permitting the transfer of the leases without having "documentary support of any kind," and the Department of Justice was charged for neglect of duty in providing the government's rights in the leases.

Fall, Sinclair, Doherty and Doherty were savagely assailed in the report for the lease negotiations, which Walsh said were "reprehensible and tainted with suspicion."

The surprising Red Sox are leading the American League.

They are half a game ahead of the champion Yankees, after a battle for the front that furnished one of the most thrilling months any baseball season ever recorded.

The Sox, who went on top when they defeated the Browns for the second consecutive time in St. Louis, while the Yankees, who have fought off the surge of the new miracle team stubbornly, were being beaten by the Chicago White Sox. The clubs today stand as follows:

SHOT AS HE PRAYS FOR DYING

Rev. Michael C. Gilbride of Draught Murdered at Bed-side of Stricken Man

Lowell, June 5.—Rev. Michael C. Gilbride, former Boston priest, and lately of St. Mary's Church in Draught, was killed today while administering the last rites of the dying to John King, on Boston road, Draught.

The man who killed him was the son of the dying man, whose religious solace was cut short by the bullet. He is John King, Jr., thirty-seven years old, who lost all of his atheism after the murder.

In the gun fight which followed in a field near the King home, Captain David Pease of the Lowell police was seriously wounded in an heroic attempt to rush King from behind a stone wall in the field. Joseph Lamontagne, also of the Lowell police, was wounded by a bullet from King's revolver, which grazed his right eye.

King was beaten into unconsciousness before he was finally captured by Pease, after King's companion was gone.

DEATH PRAYERS.
The shooting of Father Gilbride took place under dramatic circumstances.

The son entered the room in which his father was dying, and saw the priest on his knees at the bedside, murmuring the words of consolation which are said to those of the Catholic faith approaching death.

The death prayers of Father Gilbride were rapidly interrupted by the harsh voice of King, Jr., who strode up and demanded:

"What are you doing here?"
Without rising, Father Gilbride looked up and said:
"I am praying for your soul."

TESTIMONY OF COCKLEY WAS LOST ON DATE OF STEARNS RAID

DISPUTES COCKLEY'S TESTIMONY

Records Produced Show Morgan Was a Patient Until July 1, 1918

Evidence that Matthew Morgan, a detective, was in a hospital on the day when Daniel H. Cockley testified Morgan trapped Captain Charles E. Stearns and a woman in a Cambridge apartment, was offered today in East Cambridge Superior Court at the conspiracy trial of Cockley and William J. Corcoran.

James R. Dumas, attorney of the hospital, produced records of the institution. On these records it was set forth that Morgan was admitted to the hospital on June 15, 1918, and was not discharged until July 1, 1918. Cockley's testimony in the Turf trial said Morgan had caught the couple on June 24, 1918.

Former Attorney General Theobald Parker was summoned as a witness in the case today by the state.

Prior to the introduction of the hospital records by J. Peck, who testified that he was chauffeur and the "bogie" husband of Phyllis M. Allen, known also as Mrs. P. M. Pennington, was cross-examined by Cockley.

Q—The hotel testimony, at which you say you met Phyllis Allen, was in the Tenth district of Boston, was it not? A—Yes.

Q—Was it quite a sporty place, wasn't it? A—Yes.

Q—You were a bachelor then, weren't you? A—Yes.

Q—And besides and their lady friends were in the habit of going here? A—I suppose they did.

Q—You were attracted to Miss Allen right away? A—About 30.

Q—And from that time until you entered her employ as chauffeur you saw her quite often? A—Yes.

Q—She invited you to call? A—Yes.

Q—You were awestruck, were you not, at least from your point of view? A—I wouldn't say that.

Q—How old was Miss Allen when you first met her? A—About 30.

Q—That was about seven years ago? A—Yes.

Q—The name you were known as Cambridge was false? A—Yes.

Q—By first names?

A—Now this woman was known as Mrs. P. M. Pennington. That was the name I used.

Q—And you signed your name as Mr. Paul M. Pennington, is that right? A—About 30.

Q—Every one thought you were a husband? A—Only at the time.

Q—And it was true you were quite fond of her during your entire acquaintance? A—No, sir.

Q—Wasn't your relations rather personal, rather than that of employer and employee? A—Only during the latter part of the acquaintance.

Q—She called you Jack and you called her Phil, is that right? A—That may be right.

Q—Well, she naturally would call you Jack and you would call her Phil, is that right? A—Possibly.

Q—How the man you work for now a wife? A—Yes.

Q—You don't call her by her first name do you? A—No.

Q—During all the time you worked for Miss Allen wasn't it her custom to say "Don't come until I send for you"? A—Yes.

Q—Were you over at Miss Allen's apartment when you were there more than Mrs. Morgan? A—Yes, I have been there when she had several guests.

Q—Did you ever hear of her putting up a bar on anyone? A—No.

Q—When did you last see her? A—In the latter part of 1918.

Q—Never saw him?

A—When she was still in the same apartment? A—Yes.

Q—Peck was cross-examined by Attorney William E. Weeks, counsel for Corcoran.

Q—Did you know the defendant William J. Corcoran? A—Only by sight.

Q—Did you ever see him at any of these apartments of Miss Allen? A—No, sir.

Q—Miss Nora A. Morgan of Berkeley street, sister of Matthew Morgan, testified today that she was in the apartment with Captain Charles E. Stearns and a woman in June, 1918, was not decided to testify.

She declared that, although her brother was away from the house at that time, she did not believe he was working.

Following a brief recess, Cockley interrogated Miss Morgan regarding a man who had spoken to her during the raid, whose identity she refused to reveal.

James R. Dumas, an attorney of Elizabeth's Hospital, produced hospital records showing Matthew Morgan had been admitted to the hospital June 15, 1918, and was not discharged until July 1, 1918.

In the Turf trial Cockley testified that Morgan, a detective, trapped Captain Stearns and a woman on June 24, 1918, in a Cambridge apartment.

GIRL OF MANY NAMES IN COAKLEY CASE

PHYLLIS ALLEN

Missing defendant in the Coakley-Corcoran trial who is accused as a co-conspirator was also known to witnesses, as Pennington and Wells. On being disavowed from Edward Stanley Litchfield she was allowed to resume her maiden name of Mabel Lulu Allen. She is accused of being the girl with whom Captain Stearns was trapped by Coakley detectives. Her chauffeur, John J. Peck, testified that he posed as her husband so that she could get a suite in a fashionable apartment house.

New York, June 5.—Will the wedding of their daughter Anne bring about a reconciliation between James A. Stillman and his wife?

That is the question asked following announcement by Mrs. Stillman that her daughter would become the bride next October of Henry P. Davison, second son of the late H. P. Davison, millionaire member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company.

The matter of differential rates to and from Boston and the Middle West has since the Interstate Commerce Commission for nearly two years, and since the question is purely industrial and commercial and only political in a remote sense, I write to ask that some action be taken to give the commerce and industry of New England relief from adjustment.

During her father's sensational divorce suit against her mother, Anne Stillman took a "fifty-city" stand with both parents, and although she was the latter part of the proceedings on the Stillman estate at Pleasantville, N. Y., it is no secret that she frequently men in the company of her father.

The engagement announced is viewed in society as a particularly happy match. Mrs. Stillman was elated.

"I couldn't be more pleased if I had picked him out myself," she said. "He is a wonderful boy and I will have a new splendid son."

It is believed Mrs. Stillman's choice is equally pleasing to her father, who since his retirement from the presidency of the National City Bank has been living in seclusion.

FREE GIRL IN HOTEL DEATH MYSTERY

New York, June 5.—Dorothy Brown who was arrested and held in connection with the shooting of Samuel Brown, a garage owner in the Broadway Central Hotel recently, was discharged by the Grand Jury.

She maintained she had no killed Brown and that his death was accidental. When police entered the hotel room where Brown was found, she calmly smoked cigarettes and refused to testify to give any details of her life.

MOTHER SAVES HER 3 CHILDREN IN FIRE

Mrs. John H. Daley of No. 2 Pleasant street, East Lexington, rescued her three children from flames which destroyed her home when the smoke alarm was sounded.

The fire broke out in the kitchen door, and opened the door to find her children almost suffocated. She took them to her room and carried them to the street.

Damage to the house is estimated at $2,500.

FIRE DRIVES OUT ROXBURY FAMILY

Fire of undetermined origin on the second floor of the three-story brick apartment house at No. 12 Bromley park, Roxbury, drove the families into the street. The building is owned by Edward Goodman, who also occupies the second floor.

The damage was $100.

FACTOR DOWN AS MATE FOR COOLIDGE

Republican Leaders at Cleveland See None Better for Second Place

Cleveland, June 4 (U.S.S.)—Despite his seeming unwillingness to accept the nomination, Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, continued to rule a factor in the eyes of the Vice Presidential reckoning that is going on among Republican leaders gathered here for the Coolidge nomination convention next week.

Unless Governor Lowden takes some definite stand against his being named, or President Coolidge in effect waives some one else, it seemed entirely possible today that the convention next week would strengthen the motions of adopting a platform and nominating Governor Lowden as the millstone to be thrown at the Illinois will be diffused to fill out the 1924 ticket.

It cannot rightly be said there is any widespread feeling of discontent here as to candidates in the men and women of the party. A dozen men are considered available, and one of the lot the former governor, also known as the "Old Man of the West," four years ago in the place of Harding, commands the respect of the following among the party leaders.

Back of the Lowden strength among the party's leadership is the vague and haunting shadow of Senator Robert La Follette and the have is capable of wrecking in the "New Deal."

Members of the National Committee and others are almost a unit in believing that the New Deal is chosen for second place who will follow the New Deal in the "New Deal" and in the same way have a splendid opportunity with the knowledge of the industrial world and its own crowd of the West and North.

From this viewpoint Governor Lowden is described as "ideal."

PROHIBITION PARTY MAY CHANGE NAME

Columbus, O., June 5 (U.S.S.)—The good time in fifty years the National prohibition party today intend on making a candidate for President and joining a platform that will come nearer reaching the goal of the party than it has experienced in the past. With no avowed candidates, the nomination, sentiment is not yet crystallized sufficient to indicate who the nominee will be, yet it appears to be something in the vicinity of the name of the party. The name of "Prohibition American Party" was suggested and received considerable applause.

MR. RX ASKS UNITY FOR FAWES REPORT

Quincy, June 4 (A.P.)—The veteran Quarrel General Dwyer's expert on ration committee is "Germany's" chance of salvation in the hands of Chancellor Marx. He says the plan to the Reichstag in presenting his reconstructed cabinet outlining the policy he intends to pursue. Dr. Marx declared that the government was prepared to receive the report as an indivisible and indivisible whole. The opposing parties would be expected to assume the same attitude, particularly must their co-operation be forthcoming to meet the existing measures.

RARE LILIES FROM CHINA TO BE SHOWN

Pink and white lilies from West China will be exhibited at the flower show to be opened at Horticultural Hall Friday afternoon and continuing through Sunday. These flowers, which have been named "Lily Lilies," were discovered by E. H. Wilson, the Arnold Arboretum's famous plant hunter, and are among the most notable introductions of recent years. Among the exhibits will be rare penicils and great numbers of roses, in addition to a fine collection of orchids. The exhibition will be free.

'DEATH RAY' FAILS TO KILL AT TEN YARDS

London, June 3 (U.S.S.)—The "death ray" of the death ray failed to materialize in its recent government tests, the House of Commons was told by William Lamb, secretary of the Air Ministry.

During the tests, he said, one of the ministry's experts placed himself in the path of the ray only ten yards distant from the point of emanation. If the invention's claim had been borne out the expert would have disappeared, but the under secretary was pleased to report that he showed no sign of suffering.

CHAPLAINS TO HOLD FLAG DAY CEREMONY

The Chaplains' Conference of the First Corps Area will observe "Flag Day" on Boston Common, September 10th at the Parkman bandstand.

Major-General A. W. Brewster, Brigadier-General M. L. Hersey and representatives from the navy will take part in the ceremonies.

The New England staff of the Salvation Army will render the music. Chaplain Donald H. Gresham of Lawrence, 330th Field Artillery, will be in charge of the celebration.

HILL CLOUDS HALT PORTUGUESE FLIERS

Alanya, Borneo, June 3 (A.P.)—Portuguese fliers flying from Lisbon to Marsh, stopped off at a village this morning for a reason, but returned at 10:30, finding it impossible to cross the hills because of the clouds.

RADIO 'BEAM' IN AUSTRALIA TO LONDON TEST

Expert Predicts New Wonders Within Five Years by the Latest Discovery

London, June 4.—Further tests in radio telephony between Australia and England are to be made next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday on a wave length of 100 meters and using a power of about 10 kilowatts. The tests of the Australian Amalgamated Wireless Company said some of the words in the received tests were heard as clearly as those transmitted from the next street and declared that with a receiver of the new beam type evolved by Senator Marconi, the whole conversation could be heard twenty times more clearly.

It is quoted as saying that if beam stations were erected in Australia and England the premises of the two countries could discuss political affairs without being overheard in America or Japan. Within five years, he added, the present "superstation" would be obsolete, and for the cost of one such station it would be possible to have several new ones, sending a beam over a width of 1,000 miles along which several countries could receive different messages almost simultaneously and outside which it would be impossible to hear anything.

Derby Sweepstakes Win Big Fortunes for Lucky Holders

London, June 2 (A.P.)—Several large fortunes have been acquired in persons in various parts of the British Empire in sweepstakes on the results of the Derby, which was won by the Earl of Derby's Sea Scout.

The richest prize, the Calcutta sweepstakes of £250,000, went to a man living in Nairobi, Kenya Colony. Second prize in the Calcutta sweepstakes, worth £120,000, was won by Harcourt Johnston, member of Parliament, who previously had disposed of a half interest in the stake for $15,000. Philip Millard, a London engineer, won the Stock Exchange sweepstakes of £250,000, but had also disposed of a half interest. He had won a prize of £100,000, was shared by three London brothers, all members of the exchange.

Police interfered with the £250,000 sweepstakes of a Yorkshire club, arrested the promoters and seized the funds. WAGE BOARD FOR MILLINERY WORKERS
The State Department of Labor and Industries has decided upon the formation of a wage board to determine upon the advisability of increasing the wages of women employed in the wholesale and retail millinery trades. At the present time the minimum rate for experienced workers in the retail division is $10 a week and $11 a week in the wholesale.

HARDING'S HIT IN OIL PROBE REPORT

Fall, Sinclair and Doherty Are Scored and Doherty Is Held Innocent

Sinclair to Fall and Fall's use of a detachment of marines to drive squatters off Teapot Dome were singled out by Walsh for bitter denunciation. Shipman by Harry F. Sinclair of a conspiracy of blooded cattle to Pull New Mexico ranch, and Sinclair's subsequent employment by Fall after he left the cabinet were cited without comment.

DERBY EXONERATED

Likewise without comment the report related how Sinclair expended $100,000 to clear Teapot Dome of conflicting claims, some of which at least, were "shadowy." Former Secretary Doherty of the Navy Department, and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, were exonerated from "any part whatever" in the negotiations leading up to the leases. It was declared that despite diligent inquiry the committee found "no facts of sufficient importance to report" in support of the rumor that public officers had speculated in the securities of the Sinclair and Doherty companies. Similarly, the report said, "the evidence failed to establish the existence" of any conspiracy between oil operators and others at the Republican National Convention in 1920, for exploitation of public resources. The leases themselves were declared "definitely wasteful," and issued on a policy which Congress alone had authority to determine.

Only a passing reference was made to the conflicting statements by which it had been sought to connect Senator D. McLean with a $100,000 payment to Fall, and no opinion on that subject was expressed.

RAPS LOAN TO FALL

Pointing out that Fall entered the cabinet "in straightened financial circumstances," but in 1921 purchased property involving an expenditure of from $175,000 to $250,000, Walsh said, speaking specifically of the Doherty loan: "The committee refrains from characterizing the transaction referred to, it does not hesitate to condemn it as, in the last degree, reprehensible on the part of all concerned in it. The essentially character of a loan made under such circumstances requires no comment. It would be impossible for an officer to accept a loan of such amount or perhaps of any amount under the circumstances without a sense of obligation to the lender, which, unless he character was cast in heroic mold, would be revealed in subsequent official transactions with him. Its sinister import is appreciated when it is borne in mind that, without competitive bidding, Doherty got from Fall, in the month of April following the loan, the contract for the construction of the tanks at Pearl Harbor and with it preference right to the lease of a large area of naval reserve No. 1 (224,110), to be followed, without competitive bidding, by a lease of the entire reserve comprising over 20,000 acres, estimated to contain 250,000,000 barrels of oil, out of which, Doherty told the committee, he would be in luck if he did not make $100,000,000 profit."

LEASE HELD ILLEGAL

Ordering of marines to Teapot Dome was described as a perfectly outrageous use of the armed forces of the United States. The civil arm of the government was ineffectually equal to the emergency, Walsh said. "It is perfectly obvious that the procedure followed was pursued to avoid a judicial inquiry into the validity of the Sinclair leases." Walsh attacked the legality of the leases, first, because the late President Harding was without authority to transfer control of the reserved from the Navy to the Interior Department; second, because the leasing acts of Congress strictly prohibited either Fall or Doherty from entering contracts for exchange of naval oil for storage tanks; and, third, because the leases were consummated without competitive bidding, as prescribed by law. "It was declared that despite diligent inquiry the committee found 'no facts of sufficient importance to report' in support of the rumor that public officers had speculated in the securities of the Sinclair and Doherty companies."

Chaplains Picked for Republican Convention

Cleveland, June 5 (A.P.)—Chaplains to officiate at the Republican National Convention here next week were named today as follows:

First day, Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati (recently assigned to Boston), Methodists Episcopal, diocese; second, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, New York City; third day, Bishop Joseph Schrembs, Cleveland Catholic diocese. If there is a second session on Thursday or a Friday session, a representative of the Christian Science Church will be selected.

Legal inquiry into the validity of the Sinclair leases. Walsh attacked the legality of the leases, first, because the late President Harding was without authority to transfer control of the reserved from the Navy to the Interior Department; second, because the leasing acts of Congress strictly prohibited either Fall or Doherty from entering contracts for exchange of naval oil for storage tanks; and, third, because the leases were consummated without competitive bidding, as prescribed by law. "It was declared that despite diligent inquiry the committee found 'no facts of sufficient importance to report' in support of the rumor that public officers had speculated in the securities of the Sinclair and Doherty companies."

PAID FABULOUS PRICE

Discussing the leases as "bar gains" the report declared that a lease under which "the government receives 5 per cent. of the oil in the ground and the lessee gets 95 per cent." was not in the interest of or just to the government. "Had the leases been awarded upon competitive bidding," it said, "there would have been no occasion to inquire whether they are or are not fair or just to the government. The omission to invite competitive bids a suspension on the transaction as one in the interest of the government."

WORCESTER DRIVER HELD IN AUTO CRASH

Worcester, June 5.—Philip A. Chausseur, thirty years old, of No. 476 Park avenue, was held in $400 bonds on a continuance to Friday, when arraigned in District Court on charges of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The driver was arrested after leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known. Le Chausseur's car was alleged to have crashed into a machine driven by Hugo W. Lamb of No. 105 Boyer street, Auburn, in Grand View square.

FIREMAN CUT IN FALL THROUGH WINDOW

Fall River, June 5.—Fire Lieutenant Patrick Callahan is at the Fall River General Hospital, as the result of bad cuts received while fighting a fire at the Fall River Hotel on Street street. Lieut. Callahan fell through a window. The house was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars and the occupants of the two tenements were driven out.

BOBBED HAIR 'BOB' of Claims Victory

Panel Unfilled on Second Day of Trial of Girl in Buffalo Slaying

Buffalo, June 5.—Nineteen men who admitted an aversion to bobbed hair might affect their judgment as jurors had been dismissed in Supreme Court at the end of the second day of the trial of Stella Mackay, 19-year-old accomplice in the murder of Rufusesser, a jewelry clerk.

Breasting of this point by both sides delayed fitting the jury box. Several talesmen were dismissed because they said they would be prejudiced against the girl because of her alleged relations with Frank H. Minnick, already in the death house for the crime. "Would the fact that this girl lived legally with a man prejudice you?" one man was asked. "No," he replied. "She wasn't the first woman to do that and she won't be the last," was the answer. He became juror No. 2. Only men with children have been thus far sent to sit in judgment upon the thin, short figure concealed inside a large black coat huddled in her seat in the courtroom, her features totally hidden behind the fur collar of the coat and her little white handkerchief pulled down over her eyes and blonde bobbed tresses.

START TO ORGANIZE TAX APPEAL BOARD

Washington, June 5.—Treasury officials began a series of conferences today to work out the organization of the new board of tax appeals created by the revenue act.

Although the law places the tax board outside of the Treasury, President Coolidge has signified that he desires the Treasury to build up a nucleus of an organization and suggest names for membership.

It was indicated that some of the appointments will go to men already in the revenue service, since it is agreed it would be unwise to make the whole membership of the board men unacquainted with their procedure.

MAN IS KILLED IN CRASH ON VIRGINIA REEL

Several Women Injured, Many Faint in Revere Beach Accident

Philip Fisher, twenty-six years old, of No. 254 East Eighth street, South Boston, was killed on the Virginia Reel, an amusement device at Revere Beach, and several women were slightly injured when two cars on the concession collided.

The Virginia Reel consists of a series of revolving cars, shaped like trolleys, fastened to base blocks which slide along tracks descending from a high elevation in serpentine fashion.

Fisher and a number of girls were in one of these cars making the descent at a rapid rate when a second car crashed into their "trolley." Fisher was thrown from the car and was crushed to death by the second car. Several of the girls were injured.

The accident occurred in plain view of hundreds of spectators and four women fainted. The injured girls were able to go to their homes. Medical Examiner Magrath of Boston viewed Fisher's body and ordered it removed to the Northern mortuary.

JAMES LUCEY OFF TO AD FRIEND CAL

Northampton, June 5.—Leaving his work here for the first time in twelve years, James Lucey, an extended trip, and the only one of his kind, since he has been settled in Northampton 43 years ago, James Lucey, shoemaker and pillar friend of President Coolidge, left for Cleveland to attend the Republican National Convention.

'L' GIRL TRAPS MAN WITH BOGUS BILL

Quick action on the part of Miss Sadie McAdams of No. 218 South street, Revere, a cashier for the Boston Elevated at the Everett station, resulted in the arrest of Victor Itafale and may bring to light the gang of counterfeiters circulating 215 bills in Greater Boston.

Itafale, whose home is at No. 6 Heath street, Roxbury, appeared at the window and tendered a $10 bill. Miss McAdams called an elevator officer and Itafale was held until Sgt. George O. Kenney of the Everett police arrived and placed him under arrest.

EX-MAYOR MULLEN'S CASE NOT PROSS'D

Assistant District Attorney Leonard of Middlesex County has not pressed the larceny charge against ex-Mayor John J. Mullen of Everett, following an investigation which convinced him that the matter involved was of a civil rather than criminal nature, and that there had been no crime intent.

The complaint, Mrs. Jennette Dougan, and ex-Mayor Mullen, with his attorney, ex-City Solicitor Elmer E. Spear of Everett, were in conference with Assistant District Attorney Veroy Leonard at the court house in East Cambridge, which resulted in the action.

Fine Week-End Trip to Mt. Wachusett

WONDERFUL VIEWS TO BE HAD EVERYWHERE ALONG THE WAY

By TOMMY TRAVELLER.

Comfortable in a Hudson Essex, piloted by the Automobile Green Book and protected by the A. L. A. shield, I started out on my short but interesting trip to Mt. Wachusett and return.

It is a beautiful trip from start to finish, and especially lively at this time of year, when the fruit trees are in their glory and the roads are at their best. The route is through Andover, Wayland, South Sudbury, Marlboro to Worcester, from there to Mt. Wachusett.

Returning by the State road to Worcester, the route takes you to Clinton, via Boylston Center, Maynard, Kendall Green, Walham and Watertown, back to Boston.

COPELY SQUARE START.
Following is the route in detail. An excellent starting point for the tourist is the Copley Square Hotel, Copley square, Boston, where a good night's sleep is sure to have been enjoyed in a comfortable bed in a handsome room. Reinforced with one of the excellent breakfasts for which this hotel is well known, the tourist is well fortified for the run to Worcester.

Leaving the hotel, go down Huntington avenue one block to Copley square. Turn left to Dartmouth street, with Public Library on left. Through in Commonwealth avenue. Turn left on Commonwealth avenue. Cross Beacon street and straight ahead on Commonwealth avenue in diagonal road with Federal plant on right. Bear left still on Commonwealth avenue, through Audubon and just beyond Northrup. Park. Cross the Charles River, avoiding bridge on right, just into the town bridge. Continue on to telephone pole fork. Bear right on Newton street. Park, bear right, go straight ahead at cross roads.

new, straight across trolley—cross

INTO SOUTH SUDBURY.

SOUTH SUDBURY. 23.1 miles. In South Sudbury you will want to stop at Duda Wayside Lunch, where you can enjoy an excellent meal and some good music and dancing. And be sure to sample Duda's soda drinks, made from six fresh fruits, which he has christened "Duda's O-D's."

V. In South Sudbury also you will find the new Scagnum Inn, which has just been opened to the public—a very attractive place serving excellent luncheon and dinner at reasonable rates. Passing the South Sudbury P. O. on the right, straight ahead across the railroad and again across the railroad—four corners—along stone turn left and join trolley. At end of street turn right, with trolley.

MARLBORO. 27.3 miles. This is the house of Lyman, the house of clan dancing, situated on one of the hills upon which the town of Marlboro is built. It is on the Boston & New York post road, overlooking Lake Williams, and has a capacity of 400 people. Lyman's is said to be one of the finest dancing floors and the best sounding band in America. The Alpine Inn, overlooking Lake Williams, is a new and inviting place to dine. Just off the road, on the right, is a new building, the Marlboro Inn, on the other side of the lake. The Alpine Inn offers good service and a fine dinner.

W. Leaving Marlboro, go grade.

Monument ahead, bear left on West Main street, and turn right with trolley and follow around Lake Williams. At Y go straight ahead down grade leaving trolley through to Northrup, 23.2 miles, at railroad crossing, straight ahead and at Y at south end of New York street.

MAP ILLUSTRATING AMERICAN ROAD GUIDE

MILITARY TRAINING TERMED DEMOCRATIC

Dr. George F. James, executive secretary of the Military Training Camp Association with headquarters at 1000 Broadway, New York, said today that the purpose of this country, studying methods of popularizing Citizens' Military Training camps, pointed today at the army base, South Boston, the methods of success which have been followed by Colonel Stanton Winship, recruiting officer for the First Corps Area.

"I find great interest shown all through the country in this military training of the youth. It is the most democratic institution for young men in this country, bringing together all classes and promoting a great interest in this movement. New England stands at the head of popularizing this training," he said.

THROUGH WORCESTER.

WORCESTER. 42.8. Pass Union Station, go under railroad, to Center

(Front and Main street) Turn right, out

Main street and on left you will find the beautiful State Mutual Life Insurance building, on top of which is the State Mutual Restaurant. Here you can secure a fine luncheon or dinner at exceptionally reasonable rates and at the same time enjoy the music of an excellent orchestra and a wonderful view of the city of Worcester and the surrounding country.

Through Main street, Lincoln Square looking left with trolley to Salisbury street Y at Army. Bear right with trolley into Grove street. At Chadwick Square, turn through leaving trolley and follow State Road

HOLDEN. In the center turn right for fine state road direct to the top of Mt. Wachusett. Here, at the Summit House, you may have dinner or supper of wonderful home cooking. And if you care to stay overnight or longer in this comfortable inn I would recommend making your reservations by telephone in advance. If you do stay, and I hope you will, you will see one of the glorious sunsets for which this region is famous and will awaken in the morning feeling better than many a day before.

Return to Worcester over the same good State road to Chadwick Square. Turn left into W. Boylston street to Gardendale—pass station. Cross bridge over railroad and bear right.

Cross trolley and bear right—through

bridge and bear right at trolley fork. Look left under trolley.

CLINTON. 14 miles from Worcester. Go under railroad leaving trolley. Five corners bear left, fork, bear right.

STOW P. O. on right, bear right at fork, just beyond—trolley comes from left, which follow; fork, bear left with trolley left hand road; turn left with trolley.

KENDAL GREEN. Bear right after passing water trough, cross railroad.

WAYLAND. Main and Moon's streets. Park on right; straight ahead.

BRAND BROOK. Cross railroad, WATERBURY. Six corners, straight ahead on commonwealth.

ALISTON. Diagonal cross street, straight ahead on Brighton avenue. Straight ahead on Commonwealth avenue. Cross Massachusetts avenue; turn right on Dartmouth street, Boston (Copley square).

Keep your energy and freshness for your children

Washday need not tire you out RINSO gives you the cleanest wash in the quickest, easiest way No more hard rubbing

THE end of washday—and yet you feel fresh and vigorous.

Ready for any game active little brains suggest—eager to explore the cunning resources of the new doll house—glad to read over and over the adventures of Mother Goose to tiny listeners.

You have kept your energy because you have spared the hardest work of washday—the hard constant rubbing.

ONLY a new kind of soap and a really modern soap could do this for you—and this is just what Rinsol is—the first laundry soap that meets the needs of the modern housewife.

Everything about Rinsol is modern—even its form is new—fine granules that dissolve completely in hot water. You get a rich soap solution with more cleansing power than bar soap—and so much quicker and easier to use.

Your clothes are spotless, and you have helped prolong its wearing qualities—and you have saved time, strength and labor.

Rinsol takes the place of any other laundry soaps or soap you may now be using. It is a complete soap in itself—it does the whole wash whatever your washing methods may be. You need no other soap with it.

Use the rich Rinsol solution in your tubs, boilers, washing-machines. The water gets soap right through—an even rich soapiness that goes into every fibre of your clothes and gently soaks dirt out. Even ground-in dirt needs only a light rubbing.

And then the rinsing is so easy and so thorough—no bits of soap left to ruin clothes under the iron—no soil left to make them look dingy—and, of course, no harmful rubbing at any time.

EVERYWHERE the progressive American woman is using this labor-saving soap. Already more than a million packages are used every week.

Rinsol is made by the makers of Lux. Everygrocer has it—in regular size and the big new package. Get it today for your next wash. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

"Rinsol saves the clothes because it dissolves dirt, rinses easily, and there is no hard rubbing to wear out the fabric," say 4 famous manufacturers—

JUDGE GRANTS
PLEA OF 'THE
5 WOODSMEN'

Admits He'd Met the Four Horsemen and Three Musketiers Before They Came

Five westerners from the words of the North country lined up before Judge Murray in the municipal court. They had been found on Boston Common looking liquor.

"What are you men asked the judge.

"Woodmen, your honor," came the chorus.

"Let's see, one, two, three, four, five, six," said Judge Murray, "you are the five woodmen."

"Yes, your honor," came the chorus again.

"I have heard of the four horsemen and the three musketeers," said the judge, "but I have never heard of the five woodmen."

"You are the five woodmen," said the judge, "and you are all guilty of being found on Boston Common looking liquor."

FIGHTING CHAPLAIN
IN LECTURE ON WAR

The Rev. Dr. Philip H. Chase, Chaplain of the United States Army, will give an illustrated lecture on the war at the Faneuil Hall on Friday, June 10, at 8 o'clock.

False Modesty Wrecks Health

The young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Child among her troubles is constipation, and her suffering will be serious when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now.

Mrs. Mary K. Miller of 132 Benton St., Sutterville, W. Va., was perplexed about her daughter until her own doctor told her they used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at his house, and she did likewise. Miss Irma Mazurka of 90 Peter St., Buffalo, N. Y., is glad her attention was called to Syrup Pepsin.

Safe for Young and Old
Let mothers with growing daughters interest themselves in this matter and see that their judgment is enforced.

A rule followed by any family to take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin daily will keep the bowels functioning daily, and at such other times as there is constipation, biliousness, sore and

Weeks Too Generous With Nation's Property, Says Mr. Hearst

June 3, 1924.

To Editor of the Boston American:

SECRETARY WEEKS wants to give away the Philippines.

He wants to contract to give them away in twenty years, and by that time he will be dead and a nation of hopping mad Americans will not be able to lay hands on him—without getting their fingers burned.

But Secretary Weeks is not alone in his gift enterprises. A whole lot of American politicians have the Hebble Jeebies lately.

They want to give away nobly everything that does not belong to them. They want to sacrifice everything but their own salaries.

They want to give the people's money to a lot of selfish European nations who envy us and hate us and laugh at us and regard us only as stupid pigeons that submit to being plucked and like it.

These generous politicians of ours also have liberal impulses to give away the people's property, so they give away the nation's precious oil fields and timber lands and water powers to thieves and public plunderers.

Whenever these politicians feel the lofty impulse coming over them to sacrifice SOMETHING they impulsively sacrifice the PEOPLE'S rights and the PEOPLE'S possessions, confident of the approval of the soft-hearted and soft-headed altruists and the weak-eyed and weak-kneed pacifists.

Now comes Secretary Weeks, who has the give-aways in his worst form. He wants to give up 115,000 square miles of the nation's territory that we first won in war and then paid for afterwards in order to make our title and our moral rights to possession doubly sure.

Secretary Weeks wants to surrender the Philippines because we took them by the force of arms, which every pacifist decries, and paid for them in filthy lucre that every top-lofty soul should despise.

How beastly the pose—how exalted the plan!

Surely all the snufflers and snivellers will applaud the great and good Secretary for his inspiring generosity with something that does not belong to him. Surely all the sap-headed sacrificers will recognize one of their own kind in public office.

Why stop with giving up the Philippines that we bought with blood in a wicked war and that our liberal politicians then paid for in addition with tainted money, that "taint" theirs?

Why not give up Alaska that we bought with vulgar wealth from Russia?

And why not abandon Texas and New Mexico and Arizona and California and Colorado and Nevada that we took in shocking conflict from our dear neighbor, Mexico?

And why not surrender back to France, our loving ally, Louisiana, Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and the parts of Minnesota, Montana and Wyoming that we acquired by creditable payments in convertible cash?

And why not give back Florida, that we got from Spain, and the thirteen original States that we took in deplorable revolution from England?

But perhaps in strict international ethics and equity, New York ought to go back to the Dutch because they settled it, and New Jersey to the Swedes because they found it first, and Manhattan Island to the Indians, because you know, dear readers, we did not find it. We did not pay the little red men all that the island is worth—today.

That would be the idealistic thing to do, the self-sacrificing thing to do, the fool thing to do; so there does not seem to be any good reason why Secretary Weeks should not advocate it.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

"The Diary of a Fly"

A Good Warning Borrowed From Roy L. Thompson's Hancock News

A story well told, some IMAGINATION mixed with FACT, will do more to make people think and ACT than much dry conventional urging. Therefore, hand to your friend, if he needs it, the following interesting clipping from Roy L. Thompson's excellent Wisconsin paper, The Hancock News. It's a short diary, considerably more important to the public generally than some of the diaries that have been published, from Amiel's to that of the latest lady killing her gentleman friend.

DIARY OF A FLY!

April 21st—Have found a dandy boarding place. Mrs. Jones sure sets a fine table. Had chicken for dinner yesterday. Afterwards took a bath in the milk and dried off in the sugar.

April 23rd—Living like a king. Went skating on a slab of butter today. Played with the baby a while. Took a nap in the cocky jar.

April 25th—Had a narrow escape. Woke Mr. Jones from a nap by taking my daily exercise on the tip of his nose. Chased me all over the house with a swatter, but I got away.

April 29th—Out of luck! Mrs. Jones bought a new screen door and then chased me away. I'm starving to death. I HATE those good screen-doors.

Protect your children from flies.

Protect your house. See to it that no breeding place for flies is allowed close to your premises.

Flies are the advance agents and prosperity builder of the undertaker and the coffin maker.

Many a white head comes a small white coffin to the graveyard, the sad procession representing the work of FLIES AND MICROBES COMBINED.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

A SUPERWOMAN is one who can win an argument with a man—and then get him to say he loves her.

A husband is what is left of an "ideal" after the glamour has worn off and the trousses is worn out.

"A robber," says the Myocynotist, "he made only your money or your life—but a woman always wants both."

Even the most dutiful mother, somehow, manages to get rid of her worry wrinkles and meet the "sacrifices" bravely when she marries her daughter off.

A man who wouldn't think of cutting a picture out of a frame will nonchalantly marry a girl, take her out of a pink brocade ball gown and put her down in a kitchenette—and then wonder why she doesn't look like him.

Oh, yes, a girl can still "fire a man's fancy," but in these prosaic days, the flame never waxes so intense that she has to turn in an alarm for fear he'll be consumed with emotion.

A good husband is a rock of strength on which to lean—but there are lots of times when he seems much more like a pirate in the shoe.

True love might run as smoothly as a wait, most of the time, if it weren't for "cut-in," who somehow always arrives at the psychological moment to wreck it.

Love is not tied until a man stops loving about his sins. When he cheerfully admits them with that defiant, "Well, what of it?" expression, it is time to perform the autopsy.

Nothing is quite so pathetic as an infanterist's pistol for damned years—except a married woman's rights for damned compromise.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaels

Some brand them as the robbers of joy, stealing joy, leaving care and tears and bitter pain; some say they bring no recompense for all the sweets they hurry hence; for a deep, abiding peace whose once was pain. Old friendships bring a sting in the dusk when proud youth reigns on glowing cheek and laughing brow; whence all external fairness may have wholly waned. Some say the years are cruel things that joy goes out on time's swift wings and leaves despair; and our gaze soon grows weary of that all the treasures in their hands may have been given.

Impossible to Get Along

Editor Helping Hand: I received such generous help through your Helping Hand that I am writing for myself. I wear 38 in suit, 40 or 42 in coat. It wouldn't matter whether it was a Summer or Winter one, as I haven't either. I have received nice things for my children—enough to do them all Summer. I don't know what I should have done but for the Helping Hand. I have been sick two weeks and had to stay in bed. The bed is so old and the spring is worn and it is like lying on wood. My husband is still out of work, and with five children it is impossible to get along. It is one thing after another: life is all a struggle. Please thank the Helping Hand friends for me.

MRS. C. B. A.

Box of Clothes to Give

Editor Helping Hand: I have a large box of clothes to be given away. It contains men's, women's, little boys' suits, and underwear and overcoat, socks and other children's things for a child from three to four years old. Kindly send me the name and address of someone needing them and I will be pleased to deliver the box to them.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON KEEPING MOVING

By DR. FRANK CRANE

KEEP MOVING! You are not so liable to get hit. This bit of philosophy comes from the capricious Douglas Fairbanks, who recently spoke to the Boy Scouts in New York.

The advice is not only good for boys. It is good for men and women.

Everybody has someone eventually who throws things. If you are still they get a good aim at you and the result is liable to be a beater.

But if you are moving lively all the time you get no more than a glancing blow.

The strange thing about life is the enemies we make. Books on success will tell you all about that. In any kind of prominence, if you get any sort of money or place, somebody will throw stones at you.

It is a singular thing that no matter how many you have helped on your way up, no matter what your charity or good disposition, when you reach a certain height you always have the inferiority complex digging away and somebody is likely to take a shot at you.

Among the blessings of the poor it should not be limited to state that the poor man has no enemies.

If I were rich I should travel all the time. I would never dare to have a mansion on Fifth avenue at which the poor could throw stones.

For, as a rule, it is not safe to mount a pedestal and assume a pose until you have been dead a good many years.

There are those who would honor General Grant and lay wreaths upon the tomb of the dead Wilson, who would have been glad to put stumbling blocks in their way while living, or administer kicks behind.

If you are destined to great things therefore, or to prominence, keep moving.

There is no place like somewhere else in the dictionary of the rich. This maxim is not only applicable in high circles but in low for, be thou chaste as ice and pure as snow, we have it upon good authority that thou shalt not escape calumny.

The handsome your face, therefore, and the more lovely your form, the more dangerous it is to sit down.

The more popular your appeal, and the more your fellow-men gather around you to elect you to the Senate or other dignity, the more necessary there is to keep moving.

Most people fail, and the thing most dependable in the comic world is to keep moving.

The only successful man is the man who does nothing to attract the attention of his fellows and keeps steadily out of the spotlight.

There is some line of poetry to the effect that the bolt which passes by the humble bush lays the proud monarch of the forest low.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON EARTH AND COMETS

By Garrett P. Serviss.

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"I have long been pondering over one question. I have come to much lately about comets; the direction in which they travel; also some of the greatest comets. I am eager to know what causes them to move. Would you kindly tell me?"—Reader.

THE cause of comets may be studied in two ways: first as to the origin and nature; second as to why they behave as they do.

The question of the origin of comets can not be said to be fairly settled, but perhaps the prevailing opinion at present is that they were formed from the same original mass of matter (perhaps a nebula) that gave rise to the sun and the planets. Many think, however, that some comets at least, originated outside and independent of the solar system, among distant stars. If that be so, however, it does not throw any more light on their mode of origin.

The chances are very great that all of them originated in connection with some solar system, and not as completely independent bodies, and our system might well have been their place of origin, or any other. It may be, however, that certain comets, traveling in very odd orbits, are visitors to our system, their birth having occurred in some other.

If so, they may be called the "interlopers." Planets can not go about like that, saying court to one sun after another, only they could do so and earth might, in the long run, seem a more interesting place of residence than the solar system. Such comets, however, are very rare.

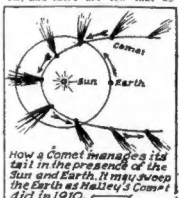

The nature, i. e., the constitution, of comets appears to be similar to that of the other members of the solar system. Such elements as can be detected in them are carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, and nitrogen.

Comets, however, are very different from the other members of the solar system. They do not differ in essence from similar elements on the earth. The head of a comet apparently consists of matter of the same nature, but of a much larger mass, and is, of course, of much smaller size.

The tail of a comet, which is the most spectacular feature, consists of exceedingly rare, or tenuous, matter, probably in a gaseous or dusty condition. It is evidently driven off from the head, or nucleus, by some repellant force (perhaps electricity) proceeding from the sun. This is shown by the fact that the main tail of every comet always streams away from the direction of the sun.

There are physical reasons why the comet's management of its tail in this way seems to the onlooker as difficult an act as that of handling a lady's train at a reception. However, as our picture demonstrates, this is a matter of strict etiquette with comets, and there are few that do it.
